22.

Mrs. Mitushi Singh

Mitushi Singh, a 37 years old lady having management degree, comes from a middle class segment of the society.

Having her father and husband, both in government sector, she got the opportunity to live in different states of India which gave her exposure to different styles of living and their struggles. With the passing years she developed the sence that it is the responsibilty of each one the society members to understand the cause of problems and join hands together to eradicate them.

Currently being mother of 9 years old and mother teacher of primary students in Indirapuram Public school, she believes that the best way to serve the society is to develop the younger generation being empathatic and generous enough, so that they adopt such a lifestyle which is not self centric. And "living by example" Is the best way to do it.

She believes that the little kids adopt anything to their lifestyle when they see their elders do it.

By being part of such an institution, which works towards achievement of SDGs, she does not only wants to do her bit in upliftment of the society but also bring a change in the young minds as well.
